Note on Property improvements vs Maintenance & repairs:

Any major renovations or costs that are improving the property’s value cannot be claimed as an expense in the year the cost was incurred. Common examples of these types of costs are: replacing windows, roofing, kitchen renovation, change or upgrade to flooring and bathroom renovations. The difference between repair and improvement is if you are replacing a small area of damaged flooring this is a repair, if you are putting hardwood in the living room, this is an improvement.

These items must be recorded and kept until the property is sold at which time they will be used to decrease the Capital Gain you report in that year.

Tip Put a copy of the invoice for these types of costs in a file folder with the original purchase agreement and make sure the Executor of your Estate knows where to find this file.

Any further questions regarding any of these items please contact our office at (905) 693-8269
